Mail Archiving

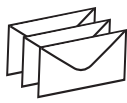

Email is responsible for moving more corporate information than any other medium. Businesses negotiate contracts, discuss confidential management decisions, conduct financial transactions everyday via electronic mail, and often confirm important verbal communications via email. Numerous regulations around the world from the Corporations Act to the Sabanes-Oxley Act insist that a business must maintain a record of these messages.

Our system captures your mail, and in conjunction with Redmap's Manage Point solutions, allows emails to be categorised, indexed and archived. Powerful search queries can then be used to retrieve emails based on common email attributes and by the message or attachment content.

Features:

- Automatically archive all inbound, outbound and internal emails on line.
- Audit trail of all activity.
- Retrieve emails and summaries quickly.
- Supports Australian and International legislation.
